EVERY WEDNESDAY IS BADGE DAY

2-FOR-1 TICKETS AT BIG BEAR SNOW PLAY

Badge-carrying personnel get two-for-one lift tickets Wednesdays (non-holiday) while enjoying inner tubing in the Southland at Big Bear Snow Play.

Active law enforcement, fire, and military personnel buy one lift pass and get another free every Wednesday at Big Bear Snow Play. Just show proper ID each Wednesday and get a free lift ticket with the purchase of a pass. It's a $35 value.

"It's our way of giving back to those who serve," said Scott Voigt of Big Bear Snow Play. Badge Days are available year-round when Big Bear Speedway opens in April (weather permitting) for timed kart racing on a Grand Prix-style track.

Big Bear Snow Play, once a ski area known as Rebel Ridge, offers worldclass inner tubing on the longest runs in Southern California. As the guns continue to blast jet streams of snow, Big Bear Snow Play builds special features like whoop-di-dos and berms in addition to its traditional downhill runs.

For after dark thrills Big Bear Snow Play last season debuted Glow Tubing night sessions, as the runs are illuminated by changing strobe lights that turn red, blue, yellow, and even black lights. Night Glow Tubing is available on Fridays, Saturdays, and holiday periods from 5-9pm.

Getting to the top of all the snow is easy thanks to Magic Carpet uphill lifts that families merely step on and off of. No uphill climb to tire parents and kids out means they save all their energy for downhill fun and get in all the runs they want.

Snow gets groomed nightly at Big Bear Snow Play to ensure the best possible conditions for guests, who enjoy evenly-spread corduroy for their downhill adventures. When it's time for a winter warm-up, head inside the heated base lodge for family-priced snack bar and video games and there's plenty of paved parking.

Big Bear Snow Play is open daily for inner tubing from 10am-4pm. All-day passes include tube rental and Magic Carpet lift for $35. After dark Glow Tubing sessions Fridays, Saturdays, and holidays from 5-9pm are priced at $30 as guests slide on fluorescent tubes under alternative color lights.

Big Bear Snow Play is in Big Bear on Big Bear Blvd. next to Motel 6. Call (909) 585-0075 or visit www.bigbearsnowplay.com for more information. IER

CULTIVATING AGRICULTURAL ACTIVITIES ACROSS THE INLAND EMPIRE WITH GROWRIVERSIDE

Since 2013, the City of Riverside has been leading the Inland region when it launched GrowRIVERSIDE (growriv.com) to develop a local food economy that increases access to nutritious foods by creating economic opportunities in a sustainable manner. Specifically, GrowRIVERSIDE encompasses seven pillars:

- Assist growers and producer groups
- Create local jobs
- Develop value added products and build local demand
- Reduce food waste
- Improve food access and health equity
- Build distribution capacity
- Ensure results

Since its inception, GrowRIVERSIDE has become an important component of Riverside's community and economic development strategy. It encompasses a cohesive plan to increase community and economic development in food and agricultural activities to activate an estimated 1,000 acres of vacant agriculturally-zoned land in Riverside's 4,800-acre Arlington Heights Greenbelt and increase food and agricultural activities across the city. The activities and efforts of the initiative are carried out in collaboration with multiple partners including the Riverside Food Systems Alliance.

GROWRIVERSIDE CONFERENCE

GrowRIVERSIDE returns in 2018 with a full program. The 5th Annual GrowRIVERSIDE conference will be held April 4th at Central Middle School in Riverside. Join this year's keynote speaker Curtis Stone, an international figure in urban farming, in discovering the growing popularity of urban farming. Stone is a farmer, author, speaker and consultant with expertise in high value, quick-growing annual specialty crops for direct consumer market streams. His book, The Urban Farmer, demonstrates organic intensive techniques with a focus on business and growing systems to streamline labor and production. Stone offers a new way to think about urban farming where quality of life and profitability coexist. Curtis' farm, Green City Acres located in Kelowna, BC, Canada, is recognized as a flagship urban agriculture model that generates $100,000 per year on one-quarter acre utilizing a mix of specialty crops and intercropping strategies.

RAMONA

Our History, Our Legacy

When Helen Hunt Jackson wrote her story “Ramona” she intended it to be a tale of injustice and the abuse of the Native Americans. Little did she know it would turn out to be one of the most enduring love stories of the 20th Century. Biographer Ruth Odell wrote of Jackson, “Her contact with the Indians set off a fuse of idealism she had not known she possessed.” And while she was an advocate for the tribes in our local area, she also wrote a novel that drew people to California in droves to visit the romantic locales describe in “Ramona”. The tale of Ramona and Alessandro brought tourists to California as never before.

In 1913 Chester Kline, publisher and editor of The San Jacinto Valley Register, wrote an article suggesting that the city weave the story of Ramona into the activities of the annual carnival. He pointed out that the first chapters of the book “teems with references to the San Jacinto Valley”. Several people were interested but it was members of the Hemet Chamber of Commerce who finally got the job done and hired Garnett Holme to write and direct the first production of “Ramona” in 1923.

A wooden stage with a cheesecloth backdrop and the audience sitting on blankets and rocks was the setting for the first performance. Now with 95 years have come many improvements in both the setting and accommodations for the audience; there has even been an update to the play itself.

However, the spirit of the play has remained the same. The injustice to the Native Americans still rings through but over the seasons the play has added more of the celebration of the Native American traditions. The Red Tail Spirit Dancers share the joy of the Elder blessing in a way that is beautiful and authentic. Internationally recognized Hoop dancer Terry Goedel amazes with his performance.

When the novel was first published the tourists came to California to see the setting of the story fascinated by the portrayal of life on a rancho, to see where Ramona and Alessandro lived and died. Much of Jackson's novel uses true life occurrences; a Native American was killed by Sam Temple and his trial was held in San Jacinto, there were tribes in danger of losing their lands - in fact Jackson herself hired a lawyer who defended the Soboba tribe and helped them keep their land.

When the valley residents chose the site of the Ramona Pageant, they wanted the audience to be able to appreciate the beauty and grandeur of the natural setting. Every spring the hills come alive with the spectacle of the Ramona Pageant, the color of the Spanish dancers, the surprise of the Rock Indians, the excitement of the Cowboys as they ride the newly restored Americana trail, and the power and majesty of the ceremonies of the Native Americans.

Coming to see Ramona should be an all day event. The gates to the Bowl open at 1:30pm and it is well worth it to arrive then. Enjoy the entertainment in the courtyard. Eat at the Kiwanis BBQ, or for a sit down experience with the most spectacular view in the valley eat at the Ramona Terrace. You can visit the museum which tells the story of "Ramona" performances back to 1923. The gift shop has a variety of Ramona themed items.

Seats for the play vary from the up close seats in the lower section to the box seats at the top of the amphitheatre that are shaded and include waitress service. Standard pricing ranges from $28 to $47. Take advantage of the local discount price of only $20 for those who live in the San Jacinto Valley and Idyllwild.

The Ramona Pageant is truly a spectacle at its finest. That is why it is the longest running outdoor drama in America and California's Official Outdoor Play. If you have never seen "Ramona" make this year the one where you learn the history and romance of the valley you live in. Become a part of the legacy that makes us so special! LER

Of the original five, the three original band members still performing are Kerry Hagny on guitar, Vince Mercurio on bass guitar, and Gary Marzolino also on guitar.

A year later, 1966, Stan Stokes joined the band as the keyboard player and is still in the band. In later years, the band was joined by Vinney Mastrosimone on drums, Bob Gongwer on guitar, Jan Maletz on guitar and vocals and Jennifer Maletz on vocals. The band plays rock and roll from the 1960's and 70's along with a bit of everything else.

THE FALLBROOK AVOCADO FESTIVAL

For over thirty years Fallbrook, California, has been known for its spectacular Avocado Festival. Held each year in the spring, this festival showcases the amazing avocado in a friendly, small-town atmosphere.

Hundreds of booths line Fallbrook's Main Avenue, attracting thousands of people for a day of endless fun and fabulous food. The Festival will be held on Sunday, April 15th from 9am to 5pm. Admission, parking and shuttles are all free.

With avocados as the theme, the food is one of the main focuses of the experience. An amazing array of avocado dishes is available, from guacamole to avocado chips to avocado ice cream. Though avocados are the food of the day, you will still find an incredible variety of dining options at the festival. Among the many food booths are offerings of barbecue, Chinese, Greek, and Mexican, just to name a few. Those with a sweet tooth will have trouble deciding between all of the desserts offered at the festival, including ice cream, funnel cakes, and cookies. Plenty of ice-cold drinks are available at the festival as well, including local beer and signature margaritas at the Main Stage area.

Don't expect to leave the Fallbrook Avocado Festival empty-handed. Avocado-themed souvenirs are just a fraction of what is available to purchase. Booths that sell avocado items are clearly marked with a "Discover Fallbrook" pennant sign.

Unique crafts and dazzling jewelry are some of the more popular items for sale, but the festival also has a Farmer's Market with a selection of agricultural goods as well. Avocados, local citrus, honey and plants are sold, along with a variety of fruits and vegetables, as well as gorgeous flowers, lush greenery, and fragrant herbs. The Artisan Walk on Alvarado contains local artists' creations and live demonstrations.

There's never a dull moment at the festival, which offers entertainment and activities for everyone. Local music performances are interspersed with live entertainment. Contests abound at the Fallbrook Avocado Festival, including Best-dressed Avocado, children's avocado derby racing called the "Avocado 500", Best Guacamole, Little Mr. and Miss Fallbrook, and Largest Avocado.

Fallbrook is conveniently located near San Diego, Palm Springs, and Los Angeles, so it makes for a great day trip for those wanting to visit. Parking is tight for this increasingly popular event, so arrive as early as possible to secure a good space. Free and convenient shuttles are available so please check the website for pickup stops and parking.

IN THE HEIGHTS

At the Lewis Family Playhouse, March 9-18

It won't be long now! From the composer and lyricist of Hamilton, Lin-Manuel Miranda, Lewis Family Playhouse's professional theatre company Broadway at the Gardens presents In the Heights.

The barrio will come to life on the Lewis Family Playhouse stage for two weekends from March 9 – 18, with show times on Fridays and Saturdays at 7:30pm and Sundays at 2pm. Gold Level tickets are priced at $30 for General and $28 for Seniors. All Platinum Level tickets are priced at $35.

In the Heights tells the universal story of a vibrant community in New York's Washington Heights neighborhood – a place where the coffee from the corner bodega is light and sweet, the windows are always open, and the breeze carries the rhythm of three generations of music. It's a community on the brink of change, full of hopes, dreams and pressures, where the biggest struggles can be deciding which traditions you take with you, and which ones you leave behind.

The creative team is headed by Director Benjamin Perez, Choreographer Marissa Herrera, and Musical Director/Conductor Ryan O'Connell. Heading the cast of almost 30 professional and local performers is A.J. APRIL 6-22

An announcement in the local paper states the time and place when murder is to occur in Miss Blacklock's Victorian house. The victim is not one of the house's several occupants, but an unexpected and unknown visitor. What follows is a puzzle of mixed motives and concealed identities. An inspector grimly studies the twists and turns of the case. At risk to herself, Miss Marple may provide a final solution.

'All Too Human'

New art exhibit explores the emotional work of Mark Strickland

What does it mean to be human? This question is at the center of a new exhibition at The Robert and Frances Fullerton Museum of Art at the Cal State San Bernardino campus, featuring the deeply emotional and moving artworks of southern California artist Mark Strickland. All Too Human: The Art of Mark Strickland will highlight the artist's lifelong exploration of the human condition including both the flaws in human nature resulting in tragedies and falls and the enduring human spirit, dignity, and compassion.

Strickland first began his lifelong study of humanity at UCLA where he earned his B.A. in psychology. Finding the field to be too academic, he turned to art as a way to express himself and find answers to the burning questions he had about the world around him. Why is there such a duality between the cruel, evil and tragic things that plague our lives and the compassion, kindness and hope that humanity is so capable of? Much of his work focuses on investigating what he considers the "forgotten society" – such as the homeless, elderly, or ill – but also incorporates grander scale concepts such as immigration, the American dream, or the Holocaust.

Strickland's findings are displayed through dramatic, large scale paintings and intensely realistic sculptures that reveal a message of great hope amidst the suffering.

All Too Human: The Art of Mark Strickland is on display now through May 19. An artist talk will be held in conjunction with the exhibition on Thursday, April 19, 6-8 p.m.

Temecula Valley Symphony To Feature 'Classical Mystery Tour'

The Symphony continues its 2018 season with Classical Mystery Tour, Mediterranean Odyssey, and Champions

The world's premier Beatles Tribute, "Classical Mystery Tour," will perform its two-hour show joined by Temecula Valley Symphony on March 17 at 2pm. They've performed with many major symphonies throughout the world and now Classical Mystery Tour is coming to Temecula!

The four musicians in Classical Mystery Tour look and sound just like The Beatles, but Classical Mystery Tour is more than just a rock concert. The show presents more than two dozen Beatles tunes performed exactly as they were originally recorded. Hear "Penny Lane" with a live trumpet section, experience the beauty of "Yesterday" with an acoustic guitar and string quartet, enjoy the classical/rock blend on "I Am the Walrus," and relish the cascading crescendos on "A Day in the Life."

From early Beatles music on through the solo years, Classical Mystery Tour is the best of The Beatles like you've never heard them before. You might say it's the best show the Beatles never did!

Tickets are $35, $40, and $50. The event takes place at Golden Bears Theater at Temecula Valley High School, 31555 Rancho Vista Rd..

MEDITERRANEAN ODYSSEY

"Mediterranean Odyssey" will feature the Spanish dance duo Flamenco del Sol on April 14, at 2pm performing to España Cañi and Lady of Spain. The program includes Casablan-
